Lactic acid is an AHA derived from milk. This a light to medium peel that is gentle enough to make a great maintenance peel for those who wish to extend the results of a deeper peel. It can help young users stave off the onset of age spots, sagging skin, fine lines and wrinkles. Women who wish to continue their normal skin care routine during pregnancy can use lactic acid peels. Because lactic acid is so gentle, it's one of the best chemical peel choices for dark skin. The Lactic Peel will stimulate collagen production to support skin structure and elasticity will making your pores appear smaller.
